Description

This course is targeted for persons who are responsible for providing HIV prevention services to American Indian and Alaska Natives. However, the training would be beneficial to any Prevention Specialist or Health Educator who uses media as part of an education program.

The training is designed to introduce participants to the fundamentals of social media and techno communication (such as Facebook, Four Square, Twitter, blogs, viral videos and podcasts) with an eye for expanding the scope of an agency's Prevention Program.
