PROPOSAL – EXTEND THE MEDICARE-LIKE RATE CAP ON CHS REFERRALS TO ALL MEDICARE PARTICIPATING PROVIDERS AND SUPPLIERS

The Indian Health System Overpays for Non-Hospital Services

The Indian Health Service (IHS), Indian tribes and tribal organizations currently cap the rates they will pay for hospital services to what the Medicare program would pay for the same service (the "Medicare-Like Rate"). Currently, this Medicare-Like Rate cap applies only to hospital services, which represent only a fraction of the services provided through the CHS system.

Contract Health Service (CHS) programs continue to routinely pay full billed charges for non-hospital services, including physician services. The CHS program may be the only plan in the Federal Government that does so. Neither the Department of Defense nor the VA pay full billed charges for health care from outside providers. Nor do insurance companies, including those with whom the federal government has negotiated favorable rates through the Federal Employee Health Benefits program. Full billed charges can widely vary from provider to provider, and often vastly exceed what Medicare would pay. As widely reported, the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services recently released hospital pricing data that demonstrates that the full billed charges for hospital services are often many multiples of the rates Medicare would pay for the same services.¹

On April 11, 2013, the Government Accountability Office (GAO) issued a groundbreaking report that concluded that the IHS CHS program routinely pays full billed charges for non-hospital services, resulting in needless waste of scarce CHS program dollars.² The GAO Report concludes that expanding the Medicare-Like Rate Cap to cover all services purchased under the CHS program would result in hundreds of millions of dollars in savings to Contract Health Service programs across the country. The GAO Report notes that the Department of Veterans' Affairs has already implemented a Medicare-Like Rate for the services it contracts for outside the VA system, and recommends that Congress enact legislation that would allow the IHS to do the same. Implementing a Medicare-Like Rate on all non-hospital services is budget neutral, and would greatly increase the level of care that Indian health programs are able to provide to American Indians and Alaska Natives at no additional cost to the government.

The Medicare-Like Rate Cap Currently Applies Only to Hospital Services

In 2003, Congress amended the Medicare law to authorize the Secretary of Health and Human Services to establish a rate cap on the amount hospitals may charge IHS and tribal health programs for care purchased from hospitals under the CHS program. The amendment was modeled on existing laws that granted the VA and DOD similar authority. In 2007, the Secretary issued regulations which established a Medicare-Like Rate cap for CHS services, but it applied only to hospital services.

The GAO and HHS Recommend Extending the Medicare-Like Rate Cap to All Services

The Government Accountability Office (GAO) recently examined the CHS program, and concluded that the Medicare-Like Rate Cap should be expanded to cover all services purchased under the CHS program. In a report issued April 11, 2013, the GAO concluded that "Congress should consider imposing a cap on payments for physician and other nonhospital services made through IHS's CHS program that is consistent with the rate paid by other federal agencies." The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has reviewed the report and concurs with GAO's conclusions and recommendations.

The GAO Report found that the vast majority of IHS's federal CHS program payments were made at non-negotiated rates, and that these rates cost on average nearly 70 percent more than negotiated rates. GAO found that federal CHS programs paid non-contracted physicians two and half times more than what it estimates Medicare would have paid for the same services.

The GAO Report looked only at data it compiled from CHS programs run by the IHS. It did not look at the entire CHS program, which includes both the IHS and Tribal programs operating under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act.

The GAO concluded that IHS CHS programs paid two times more than they would have paid with a Medicare-Like Rate in place, and that the IHS CHS program alone would have saved an estimated $31.7 million annually if Medicare-Like Rates applied to non-hospital services. These savings would result in IHS being able to provide approximately 253,000 additional physician services annually.

Although the GAO estimates are likely quite conservative, the GAO estimates that tribal CHS programs could have saved an additional $68.2 million for services provided in 2010 alone. GAO estimates that tribal and federal CHS programs combined could have saved $126.4 million in 2010 alone if Medicare-Like Rates had been in place for non-hospital services.

Using even these conservative estimates, the expansion of the Medicare-Like Rate Cap from 2010 to the present would have resulted in hundreds of millions in new federal health care resources being made available to American Indians and Alaska Natives.

The Proposed Legislation Directs the Secretary to Expand the Medicare-Like Rates Cap

The proposed legislation would amend Section 1866 of the Social Security Act to expand application of the Medicare-Like Rate Cap. It would direct the Secretary to issue new regulations to establish a payment rate cap applicable to medical and other health services in addition to the current law's cap on services provided by hospitals. It would make the Medicare-Like Rate cap apply to all Medicare-participating providers and suppliers. This would include physicians, anesthesiology assistants, nurse practitioners, ambulance services, air and ground transport, specialists, renal dialysis, x-ray technicians, independent diagnostic test facilities, independent clinical laboratories, clinics, physical therapists, and the like. At the same time, it would preserve existing regulations that impose a Medicare-like Rate cap for services provided by hospitals.

The Proposed Legislation is Designed to Ensure Continued Access to Care

The GAO report concluded that any expansion of Medicare-Like Rates to non-hospital services would need to ensure that Indians have continued access to health care providers. The proposed legislation helps to ensure continued access to providers by making it a requirement for all Medicare-participating providers and suppliers, including physicians, to accept the rates of payment set by the Secretary as payment in full as a condition of receiving Medicare payments.

Under the proposed legislation, if a provider or supplier refused to accept that rate of payment, they would no longer be eligible to receive any Medicare payments. However, any provider or supplier would be free to reject that rate and no longer participate in Medicare.

The proposed legislation calls for the Secretary to develop new regulations to set the actual rate of payment, which is expected to be the Medicare-Like Rate. Any new regulations would be subject to tribal consultation and notice and comment rulemaking. One option to be considered would be to develop a process modeled on the VA's regulations, which allows for a higher rate than the Medicare-Like Rate to be used when necessary to ensure continued access to providers.

The proposed legislation is likely to have a minimal impact on existing providers and suppliers. Indians make up less than one to two percent of the total demand for care nationally. As the GAO report points out, most providers and suppliers already participate in Medicare, and are used to paying Medicare rates for services.

The Proposed Legislation is Budget Neutral and Consistent with Federal Policy

The proposed legislation could result in hundreds of millions of dollars in savings being made available to the IHS and Tribal and urban Indian health care facilities at no cost to the government. The legislation is budget neutral. The cost savings it would produce will be critical in coming years, as IHS is not subject to any cap on Budget Sequestration.

These cost savings would allow tribal health care programs to change their present level of care to a more favorable level of care, and treat lower priority cases early, before they develop into more serious problems. This, in turn, would result in significant cost savings not accounted for in the GAO's estimates, and dramatically improve health outcomes for one of the most at-risk populations in the United States.

Finally, expanding the Medicare-Like Rate Cap would bring IHS billing and payment policy in line with other federal agencies, such as VA and DOD, which already impose a Medicare-equivalent rate for non-hospital services.
